

Diversity in Composing 2021 Scholarship Application

Qualifications

This scholarship will be available to emerging and existing composers to assist in learning the methods and styles used by today's publishers in the choral world. The scholarship is available through Choristers Guild, a 501 c3 nonprofit, whose mission is to Enable Choral Leaders to Nurture the Musical and Spiritual Growth of Children, Youth and Adults.

Scholarships are available to both students and non-students, and will be distributed at either a portion of the registration or the full registration. Scholarships are not transferable. Preferences for this particular event for scholarships will be for those of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC).

Applications must be submitted by February 28, 2021 to royalty@choristersguild.org

To be considered for this scholarship for attendance assistance at Diversity in Composing Online Conference, please fill in the information below as completely and accurately as possible.
